

First, married couples should enjoy a close companionship.

Second, married couples should experience meaningful, on-going conversation.

Third, married couples should possess a commitment that will build respect for one another.

- For a friendship to continue to exist and deepen, there must be a mutual _____ for one another. This is true for any friendship, but especially true of the marital relationship.
- Let's look at six areas of commitment that will help to build a mutual respect between husband and wife.
- There must be a commitment:
 1. To _____. cf. Ephesians 5:25
 - "Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends." John 15:13
 2. To be _____. Proverbs 18:24
 3. To be _____. Proverbs 27:6
 - True friends tell you the truth even when it _____.
 - Friends are _____ honest - even when it may not be easy, comfortable, or pleasant.

4. To _____ together. Job 42:10

- “Likewise, ye husbands, dwell with them according to knowledge, giving honour unto the wife, as unto the weaker vessel, and as being heirs together of the grace of life; that your prayers be not hindered.” 1 Peter 3:7

5. To never possess a _____ spirit.

- “Also against his three friends was his wrath kindled, because they had found no answer, and yet had condemned Job.” Job 32:3
- A _____ simply thrives on a woman’s admiration. This is why Ephesians 5:33 commands wives to reverence or respect their husbands.

6. To always _____ each other unconditionally.
Proverbs 17:17

- Love is not a _____. It is a _____ of the will.